Crocodylus Park – Darwin, Northern Territory

Crocodylus Park, just five minutes from Darwin Airport and 15 minutes from Darwin city centre, is home to more than a thousand crocodiles and other wildlife. The crocodiles range in age and size from 30-centimetre (12-inch) hatchlings to adults measuring 4.8 metres (16 feet) and weighing half a ton.

Other wildlife at Crocodylus Park include big cats, primates, birds and other reptiles including hawksbill turtles.

How to get to Crocodylus Park

If driving, check with your Darwin area map. Crocodylus Park is at 815 McMillans Rd, Knuckey Lagoon (opposite the entrance to the Berrimah Police Centre) overlooking Holmes Jungle Nature Reserve.

If taking public transport, catch the No. 5 bus from Darwin, the No. 5 or 9 bus from Casuarina, or the No. 9 from Palmerston. The bus stop is about a five minutes' walk to the Crocodylus Park front entrance.

Crocodylus Park entry prices

Entry to Crocodylus Park costs $25 each for adults, $12.50 for children aged 4 to 16, $65 for a family group. Children below four years old are admitted free.
